

Dr. Anna Ukhanova

Technical Program Manager, Google Research Europe

Dr. Anna Ukhanova is one of Google's research leads in the EMEA Research Center in Zurich which focuses on machine learning research on a wide area of ML and AI related topics.

Anna Ukhanova received a M.Sc. in Information and Communication Systems from St. Petersburg State University of Aerospace Instrumentation in Russia, and a Ph.D. in Computer Science from the Technical University of Denmark (DTU).

She is a grantee of the Danish National Advanced Technology Foundation for research work in the field of visual perception.

Anna is renowned author or co-author of papers published in major international conferences and journals. She has been working with Google Switzerland since 2014.